

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY, M.S.

ALL IN

FOR HELPING CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

At Roberts, we prepare you to become the kind of school psychologist who leads with purpose and serves with insight - ensuring growth for all.

This three-year program blends real-world experience with deep academic preparation. You'll learn how to assess, diagnose, and support children and adolescents in school settings, making evidence-based decisions and consulting with parents, teachers, and administrators.

Coursework is grounded in diverse practice opportunities, with direct access to faculty who are experienced school psychologists and preparation to become nationally certified. You'll be equipped to make a lasting impact in the lives of students and their families.
